Analysis of Table 1.2

In the June 1994 quarter, increases were recorded for each population component. The total increase was down on the total increase for March 1994 quarter, with the largest contributor to the decrease being net estimated overseas migration, down 2,500.

Net estimated interstate migration, which increased by 500, recorded the only increase from the March quarter. This continues the increase over the previous three quarters and is the fifth consecutive positive quarter.

The number of divorces registered in the 1993-1994 financial year increased by 549 over the previous financial year. Over the same time period, the number of marriages registered remained relatively unchanged. September quarter 1994 divorces rose slightly by 50 from June quarter.

For September quarter 1994 there was a large decrease of 1,024 marriages and 192 births from June quarter 1994. The number of deaths increased by 294 over the same period. These figures illustrate a trend for more people to die and less people to marry during the winter months.

Infant deaths remained unchanged from June quarter 1994.

Analysis of Table 6.4

When compared with the previous year, coal production in 1993-94 fell by 5.4% to 5.151,000 tonnes. All of this shortfall occurred in the last quarter of the year and was caused by the undertaking of a major economic rationalisation process by coal producers. A general move away from underground mining was the major consequence of this rationalisation.

GSP grew steadily in the December quarter, rising 1.5% to be 8.0% higher than at the same time in 1993. Wages, salaries and supplements rose 1% to match the corresponding Australian rate, and grew 3.8% over the year to December quarter. Strong growth in the last four quarters contributed to a 16.1% increase in indirect taxes less subsidies over the year to December quarter.
